Michael J. Ward Attorney for Winglow Farms spoke to the Board requesting their extension. Solicitor swore in Ralph Ford of Winglow Farms. He asked what agencies they are still in need of, and Mr. Ford said that the main issues were water and sewer connections and still being within the conformity of the plans, and being more affordable. They are hoping with the uptick of home building in Monroe Township their project will be more appealing. There was a small discussion of the the plans possibly changing if this does not happen and an entire new application needing to be made. Mr. Colavita asked what the extension does for the applicant, and Mr. Ford said that it allows for a period of protection from any Zoning Changes. Mr. Ward also commented that Builders have let them know that their cost of construction is simply too high ($300,000) so they need to find a way to get their costs down as well.

Discussion / Comments / Training:

Ms. Flaherty asked members to review the documents from Public Works Director Mike Calvello, then to do a Stormwater Management online review and tutorials and she will have a sign in sheet at the meeting saying they did so.

Mayor Teefy reported that Route 322 and Fries Mill did go to NJDOT.

The Board will review the ordinance change for Chapter 175 at the next meeting for guarantees and inspections to reduce applicant costs and to help development get on their feet, and make Townships more responsible for inspections.

Ms. Flaherty said that the next agenda is pretty extensive, and some properties that have a lot of interest for new business or expansions. She also talked about her recent visit to Key West and the Architecture and on Duval Street, and how to make a residential home look commercial like Monroe Township is aiming to do on Main Street.

Mr. Heffner asked for an update on Great Railing. Ms. Flaherty said that both EZ Hardscapes and Great Railing have been sent summons. He also asked about an application to the Pinelands for the lot next to Rush Fitness. Ms. Flaherty and Mayor Teefy said they have met with the owner and are hoping to do something similar to the shopping Center in Stratford, and do a mixed use development. The hope is also to redirect the traffic pattern.

Motion to adjourn: Mr. Crane

2nd: Mr. Scardino

All in favor by voice vote.
